Home Support providers in Wandsworth

People choose particular providers for different reasons. It's important to take your time to choose a provider that you trust, and who will provide you with the care and support you need.

You should consider asking the following questions to help you make your decision:

- Can they help you at the times of day or night you need them?
- If you have a specific health condition for example, do they have the experience and skills to support you?
- Is there an out-of-hours or emergency contact if needed?
- What training and supervision do they provide for their care workers?
- What does their fee cover? Do they pay care and support workers a fair wage?
- Are you confident that their care and support workers will treat you with respect and dignity?
- How will the provider communicate with you to make sure you're happy?

- If you have a problem, how does it get resolved?
- Are you confident you will not be discriminated against because of your age, gender, race, disability, faith or sexual orientation?

Home support providers are regulated by the Care Quality Commission (CQC). To find the latest CQC report for each agency, please visit www.cqc.org.uk.
