Wandsworth Local Fund

Over £7,200,000 has been spent on local schemes in Wandsworth since 2015.

Tell us what you would like to see the Wandsworth Local Fund spent on in your area.

Where does the funding come from?

The Community Infrastructure Levy (CIL) is a tax collected by Wandsworth Borough Council and paid by developers. The CIL allows the council to support and fund new social and physical infrastructure that the council and local communities want.

In Wandsworth, a portion of the total tax collected in an area is spent on local priorities; this is the Wandsworth Local Fund.

Rosa speaks out

A student from Chestnut Grove Academy has won the Wandsworth Regional Final of the Jack Petchey Speak Out Challenge, the world's biggest youth speaking event.

Rosa McDonnell, 14, won a £100 gift certificate and the chance to go through to the Grand Final on July 2. Her winning speech, The Girlfriend, The Mother and The Wife, talked about the portrayal of women in theatre and film.

Second place went to Luke St Clair from Southfields Academy, while Oghale Erikigho from Bolingbroke Academy was third.

The awards were presented by the Mayor of Wandsworth Cllr Leslie McDonnell and the judges were Hannah Cilia from the Jack Petchey Foundation, Amy Ewbank, Artistic Director, Doll's Eye Theatre, Russell Findlay, CEO of the Speakers Trust, Lesley Strachan, Radio Wandsworth arts editor, Sam Phillips from the Wandsworth Youth Council and 2017 finalist Ally Stuart.

Leaving care

Young people leaving the care system are getting a package of support from the council to help them cope with adult life. The Wandsworth 'Local Offer' includes help on how to budget and manage their finances and more mental health support, better access to apprenticeships and accommodation for young people with complex needs. They will all receive an information pack giving clear information about the support available. The council will also pay their council tax bills until they are 21.

Good news for Oak Lodge

There's been loads going on at Oak Lodge School, with some good news and some very special visitors.

The school, for children who are deaf or who have speech, language or communication needs, has bagged £1000 from the Tesco Bags of Help scheme, which will help provide more mental health and well-being support for pupils, like this healthy cooking class (above).

Meanwhile, students taking part in the weekly hair and makeup session were surprised with a visit from prominent deaf blogger Jasmine Whipps and her friend Jemma James. Jasmine, known as Jazzy to her fans, is profoundly deaf in both ears and uses British Sign Language (BSL) as her first language. Both girls taught the class how to properly apply makeup.

The school also welcomed a visit from therapy dog Faith. Faith, a five-year-old Staffordshire bull terrier, qualified as a PAT (Pets As Therapy) Dog in 2011 and has visited schools, hospitals, hospices and care homes since she was eight months old. She has been given an award by the Mayor of Wandsworth her contribution to the local community. For more information on PAT visit: www.petsstherapy.org.

Rose cooks up a win

Rose Picicco has won the fifth annual Wandsworth Young Chef of the Year competition.

Rose, from Southfields Academy, wowed judges with her dish of cod cakes followed by chicken parma ham, with a Portuguese desert of natas de ceu.

The Young Chef competition is run by the Mayor of Wandsworth and the council's lifelong learning team in association with borough schools. It nurtures young talent, teaches young people how to cook good healthy food to a budget, provides a chance to learn from the experts and helps young people get a foothold in the catering industry.

Each of the eight finalists won high street vouchers, with Rose scooping the top prize of £130 and a crystal trophy. May Newkey-Burden from Burntwood School was second and Yafiet Binyam from Ernest Bevin was third. The other finalists were: Raheela Aslam (Ark Putney Academy), Farnaz Abubaka (Ark Putney Academy), Zakareya Ahmad (Ernest Bevin), Jamiee Hyacinth (Chestnut Grove) and Jada Burrell-Powell (St Cecilia's).

Judo champs

Ernest Bevin College has been ranked the top British school for judo following a haul of five medals at the British Schools Judo Championship.

The team faced competitors from 460 schools to win two Gold, two Silver and one Bronze medal at this year's competition. Omar Amaidia (16) and Umar Zabboughi (13) both won Gold Medals to be crowned British Schools Champions 2018.

“ It was a brilliant end to what was a great weekend of Judo for the Ernest Bevin Judo team. ”

Granard had a £1.9m investment two years ago in a new building – the Cedar Building – housing extra classrooms and more.

Granard is neighbourhood hub

Granard Primary School is proud of its place right at the heart of the community it serves.

It prides itself on being as inclusive as possible and works with parents as well as students to help children succeed and feel part of a team. This approach has helped the school achieve another 'Good' Ofsted rating in December, with inspectors noting that parents had praised the school's strong sense of community.

“ A lot of our pupils' parents feel that Granard is their family. ”

Cheryl Grigg
Headteacher

Top: Mabel the school therapy dog is popular with all the children, but is especially good at helping children who have anxiety or find it difficult to talk about how they are feeling.

Middle: People are regularly invited in to meet the children. Here they get a fitness class from Joe Wicks, The Body Coach.

Bottom: The school even has its own pool

Headteacher Cheryl Grigg said: “Granard also has a children’s centre so in many cases we’ve known the children since they were born - a lot of our pupils’ parents feel that Granard is their family.

“We run workshops for parents as well as children so they can see how we are teaching their children and to help prevent them feeling concerned and out of their depth.

“One of the things that we are striving hard to do is to maintain high educational standards, particularly in Year 6. Our staff are very effective in motivating and extending the children’s learning as well as successfully working in partnership with our parents.”

Schools set for £15m expansion

Councillors in Wandsworth have approved plans to invest more than £15m in providing more places at some of the borough's most popular schools to make space for rising pupil numbers.

At secondary level, subject to the normal feasibility and planning application processes where necessary, the following schools will expand:

- St Cecilia's in Southfields will increase its intake by one extra class.
- Chestnut Grove Academy in Balham will increase admissions by one class size, while the investment in new facilities will also enable the school to expand its sixth form provision.
- Ark Putney Academy will add two new classes by utilising available space in its existing building which was recently upgraded as part of a £30m school modernisation scheme.

- Burntwood School is already undertaking expansion plans and will be offering extra spaces from September this year.

At primary level:

- Brandlehow School in Putney will have enhanced buildings to enable it to revert to two forms of entry, having recently had to reduce to one due to lack of space.

- There will be two new classes at Paddock School in Roehampton which caters for children with moderate and severe learning difficulties.

- Riversdale School in Southfields will see the establishment of a new £450,000 unit to support children with special needs. The support of the headteacher and governors to put this in place as soon as next September is very welcome and a consultation on this proposal is under way.

Local youth workers Kafui Brese and Nicole Gordon, Wandsworth Council leader Ravi Govindia and Daniel Tomkinson, CEO of New Covent Garden Market Authority on the site of the new pitches.

Top class pitches

Powerleague is creating a five-a-side football facility at Battersea Power Station featuring six state-of-the-art fifth generation artificial all weather pitches, due to be open by July.

There will be five five-a-side pitches and one 8-a-side pitch allowing up to 76 people to play at any one time. Special access will be available for local schools and community groups to use the pitches and local residents will be eligible for discounted rates at designated times.

Think outside the box

Think Outside has invited all the borough's primary schools to a conference on June 12 to find out more about outdoor learning.

The organisation runs outdoor learning clubs in Wandsworth schools, both as part of lessons and after-school, focusing on healthy living, food and wildlife.

It also develops under-used or derelict sites on school premises into growing and wildlife spaces and is an experienced fund-raiser to help schools pay for them.

The conference will be hosted by Swaffield School. Find out more at www.think-outside.org.uk

Praise for hospital school

The Wandsworth Hospital and Home Tuition Service (HHTS Wandsworth) is the first school of its type in the country to gain the UNICEF Rights Respecting Schools Silver Award.

HHTS Wandsworth, run by the council, helps children suffering from severe or chronic illnesses, mental health issues or who are pregnant or young parents. It means that young people in hospital don't miss out on their education, with hospital school teachers liaising with every child's school to ensure that wherever possible pupils keep up with their peers.

It is recognised as outstanding by Ofsted, and has two schools – one at St George's Hospital and the other at Springfield University Hospital. It also offers home tuition for pupils with acute medical needs, reintegration support for pupils with mental health needs and runs outreach programmes for young people who are school phobic or otherwise vulnerable in mainstream schools.

Rights Respecting Schools are those that focus on four key areas: wellbeing, participation, relationships and self-esteem. Children's rights are central to how these schools operate and children are taught about respect, dignity and non-discrimination.

UNICEF Assessors said they will be working with HHTS Wandsworth to share their experiences with other hospital schools so that more can become accredited.

Harris Academy 'Outstanding'

Harris Academy Battersea has been given an Outstanding Ofsted rating.

The school, ranked as one of the top performing schools in London, was also named Evening Standard School of the Year for academic excellence in 2017 and was one of the Sunday Times' Top 20 Schools in the country.

The report commends the outstanding behaviour of pupils, outstanding leadership and the 'unwavering commitment' of staff. Ofsted also praised the Academy for its support for disadvantaged students, who make 'excellent progress' whilst at the Academy. David Moody, Principal, said: "It's been an incredible few years at Harris Academy Battersea and this Ofsted rating really is the icing on the cake."

Get reading

Heathmere School is hosting the first ever Roehampton Reads reading festival on June 23, and everyone is invited.

So far, the line-up includes Piers Torday, Kes Gray, Neal Zetter and Joshua Seigal, Swapna Haddow, Ross Montgomery, Sally Kindberg, Story Storks, Bigfoot Arts, Amari Hars (sponsored by the Polka Theatre) and the Really Big Pants Theatre.

Harini is top young person

Harini Thiruchelvam, who spends much of her spare time volunteering, has won this year's Wandsworth Young Person of the Year Award.

As well as being academically gifted, Harini (pictured holding the trophy) is hoping to train as a vet and helps out as a volunteer for three hours each week at an animal re-homing centre run by Cats Protection. She also helps out at a horse riding school for one day a week, has recently started work as a veterinary assistant once a week and for the past five years she has volunteered at a library on a reading support programme and is a mentor to younger students at Graveney School.

Presenting her award, the Mayor of Wandsworth Cllr Leslie McDonnell said: "Harini's concern for the wellbeing and her consistent support for her school community are heart-warming."

Other young people recognised were:

- 12-year-old Rhea Kara who has raised £50,000 for the charity Reverse Rett by selling her own paintings.
- Sofia Perera for her work with the Wandsworth Youth Council raising awareness of mental health issues.
- Sinead Brown who attends Ark Putney Academy is the only school-age pupils to be admitted to the Office for Students panel, which represents students' interests in higher education.
- Finley Wright established the Combined Cadet Force at Ernest Bevin School and went on a trip to Zambia to help coach local young people in Rugby.
- Two groups were recognised – the Band Project at Ark Putney and The Gap Youth Club, which provides a safe social space for LGBTQ youngsters

Contacting families

Contact is a charity that helps families with disabled children

It provides families with the best possible guidance and information, brings them together in local groups and online to support each other by sharing experiences and advice and helps families to campaign, volunteer, fundraise and shape local services to improve life for themselves and others.

It's based at the Early Years Centre, 1 Siward Road, Tooting. Families can register themselves by calling the office on (020) 8947 5260 or emailing Wandsworth.Office@contact.org.uk

You can also go along to one of the regular drop-in sessions (right). No booking is necessary.

Budding business stars

The first ever Wandsworth Enterprise Schools Week encouraged the borough's budding entrepreneurs to think about a career in business.

The event, part of the council's Wandsworth Enterprise Week support programme, featured inspiring sessions from successful young entrepreneurs sharing their story of how they got started, with ten sessions in schools across the borough, including this visit (below) to Southfields Academy. There were also interactive workshops to give students an insight into self-employment and talks from business support organisations.

Now schools are being invited to sign up for the Tycoon Enterprise Competition, a free competition run by the Peter Jones Foundation, a charity founded by Dragon's Den star Peter Jones CBE.

Tycoon, which opens for entries in mid-June, is for students aged six to 18. Every participating team writes a business plan, is given a goodwill loan of up to £2000, starts a business and trades, competing with other student companies through a sophisticated kickstarter style platform, in a safe and controlled environment. This helps students to gain valuable hands-on experience of what is involved with forming, and running, their own start-up.

To find out more information and to register your school's interest visit: www.peterjonesfoundation.org or contact wew@wandsworth.gov.uk

Raising awareness

Hillbrook School in Tooting has been running free Dementia Friends information sessions for staff, pupils and parents. So far all 333 Year 3-6 children have attended a session, as well as all the staff. Year 1 and 2 children will have their sessions this term. The sessions are part of the Alzheimers Society's Dementia Friends programme to change people's perceptions of dementia and tackle the stigma and lack of understanding around the condition.

ADT room unveiled

Local MP Justine Greening visited Mosaic Jewish Primary School to officially open the school's new Art, Design and Technology (ADT) Room, funded through a successful bid to the Maurice Hatter Foundation and the Friends of Mosaic.

"The ADT room is fully equipped with a range of resources that will enable the children to explore a wide range of creative learning techniques," said Chair of Governors, David Kelin. "We are aware that such a dedicated facility is unusual in a primary school. We are extremely grateful to all those who have supported the creation of a cutting edge resource for our children."

History comes alive

Judging has started on this year's Wandsworth GLL Heritage Awards for Schools competition. Schools from across the borough have entered, and have explored aspects of local history including local historical figures and how neighbourhoods have changed. Outright winners receive a cash prize and all winning groups will be presented with their awards by the Mayor of Wandsworth at a town hall ceremony. See the next edition of Headstart to find out who won.

Telling stories

The first trained reading helpers have begun supporting young Wandsworth children to read as part of the new Story Starters programme.

Story Starters was launched last year by children's literacy charity Beanstalk, Dolly Parton's Imagination Library and LuCid (University of Liverpool). It sees volunteers from the local community visit schools twice a week to help children aged three to five become ready to read.

Jan Thole is among the very first Story Starter reading helpers and has begun working with children at Chesterton Nursery (part of Chesterton School) in Wandsworth supported by Beanstalk. She supports three children one-to-one twice a week for 20 minutes at a time.

Chesterton School currently has ten Beanstalk volunteers who support pupils in Years 1 to 6 with reading. Katherine Williams, Every Child a Reader teacher said: "We are delighted to be able extend this support into our Early Years by welcoming our first Story Starters volunteer, Jan, into our nursery."

Supermarket sweep

Fircroft School has received £2,500 from Sainsbury's stores across Wandsworth. The money will be used towards transforming a classroom into a library.

Headteacher Anne Wilson said: "Promoting a love of reading is at the heart of everything we do here at Fircroft and a new library will help our children have easy access to a wide range of books right here in the school - as well as very special space in which to explore them. We are very grateful to Sainsbury's stores from across the borough for helping us to achieve this."

Leaving school?

Young people leaving school are being urged to think about apprenticeships. Apprentices are paid while you learn and get a recognised qualification, important skills, valuable work experience and a foothold into their chosen industry. Support is available from the council's Lifelong Learning team. Find out more at wandsworthlifelonglearning.org.uk.

Elliot Veheary is a security apprentice with Banham Academy and Pareice Hassan-Wright is a Business Administration Apprentice with Wandsworth Council. They talked about their experiences at a recent breakfast encouraging employers to take on apprentices.

News from the Youth Council

The Wandsworth Youth Council have had a busy start to the year. Here are our two key highlights

Leadership Team Elections

Members of the Youth Council stood for election for a variety of roles and were elected into these posts by their peers.

A HUGE congratulations to the following young people, who were elected:

- Chair – Conor, Southfields Academy
- Deputy Chair – Mohammad, Southfields Academy
- Media Officer – Sofia, Burntwood Academy
- Political Awareness Campaign Lead – Sam, Ashcroft Academy
- Mental Health Campaign Lead – Chloe from Harris Academy Battersea
- Education for Life & Police and Youth Engagement Lead – Shaye, Kingston College

Well done to all of them and to all of those who stood for election too.

2018 – 2019 Campaign Priorities

Key campaign priorities for the year ahead are:

Political Awareness: We want to raise young people's awareness on how local and national politics works, to help young people be better informed and better prepared to make an informed decision when they vote for the first time.

Mental Health: We will raise awareness, reduce stigma and improve mental health provision and services for young people. We will ensure more young people are educated about mental health and know what it really is.

Education for Life: We will help young people be better prepared for adulthood when leaving school.

Police and Youth Engagement: We will work with young people and the police to help tackle crime related issues in the community and raise awareness about support services available to young people.

Wandsworth Youth Council is run as part of the Wandsworth Youth Participation Service, which is delivered by The Participation People on behalf of Wandsworth Council.

If you would like to know more about the Wandsworth Youth Council and the work they do, please get in touch with Tiffany on wandsworth@participationpeople.com.

Music stars

Students from the Saint Cecilia's Musical Theatre Club, Concert Band, Choir and String Group opened this year's 2018 Brighter Sound Concert at the Royal Festival Hall with their rendition of 'Fame'.

The Choir and Concert Band members also joined other secondary schools to perform 'New York, New York', 'Motherless Child' and 'Scarborough Fair'.

The tenth annual Brighter Sound concert featured young singers and musicians from schools across Wandsworth. It was organised by the council's Wandsworth Schools Music Service which offers training and the chance to perform. Find out more at www.wandsworth.gov.uk/musicservices

Brand awareness

Young people working with the Wandsworth BEIT team have been building their own brand.

BEIT, the council's Early Intervention Team, worked with the Brixton Soup Kitchen on the project in Tooting. They created two teams, Born Unique and Generation 21, which each came up with a concept, brand name and design. Their work reflected their desire to be authentic and individual and looked at issues affecting young people in 21st century London.

BEIT run workshops on issues such as knife crime, theft, sexual bullying and also work with young people individually. Find out more at wandsworth.gov.uk/youth.

Cultivating a love of art

Year 2 students at Falconbrook School have been working with artist Bethan Lloyd-Worthington as part of the Cultivate scheme.

They explored their local area and their place within it over six sessions and imagined how they would improve it. They worked with clay, collage, drawing and rubbings and documenting their journey through hand made sketch books.

Last month they held a special exhibition of their work and acted as tour guides for other students at Falconbrook, their families and guests.

Cultivate is run by the council's leisure contractor Enable Leisure and Culture and is an arts education programme working with primary and secondary schools to inspire, involve and educate young people about the creative opportunities in Wandsworth, including creative careers and future skills.

For more information contact Katherine Hill, Cultivate Programme Manager on khill@enablelc.org

Creative Wandsworth: A Guide for Young People

A new guide has been specially designed for young people to showcase the wide range of creative organisations based in Wandsworth and the activities they offer for young people and families, many of which are free or low cost. There is space for young people to make their own notes and use the guide to track their creative journey around the borough, allowing it to be used both in and out of school. Copies of the guide have been distributed to every child in Wandsworth via schools, libraries and other public places.

What's on offer?

Wandsworth's new Local Offer map is designed to help families with children and young people with special educational needs or disabilities (SEND) make the most of their borough. It includes activities, leisure and sports centres, plus useful support services.

There are venues across the borough offering reductions or extra support to members of Wandsworth's Disabled Children's Register (DCR) with a WAND card. Battersea Park is one of the most popular because London Recumbents and Battersea Park Children's Zoo are free to WAND card holders all year round and Go Ape, Putt in the Park and Bluebird Boats sometimes offer WAND card holders free or reduced price entry. Parking in Battersea Park is also free at certain times for WAND card holders.
